On last Wednesday night one of the best schools in the county and in the history of District 11 came to a close with an intensely interesting program, which was long and varied, and besides the part the pupils took the teachers had the assistance of a good hand.

The teachers, Mr. W. M. Bush and Miss Inez Baras, are enthusiastic and have succeeded in surpassing all former records of the school. Their untiring zeal and persistent efforts have placed the school far in advance of others near it, and have developed an interest among the patrons and pupils that will be lasting, and the cause of educational developments in various ways that will be to the advancement of the school. Their manner of discipline and work has won for them an abiding place in the hearts of both patron and pupil. An effort will be made to employ them for next term and it is hoped by all that they can be secured. Following is a copy of the program:

Then with obedient grace be reconciled to bravely bear life's many sorrows.

Strength for today is all we need, why grieve for the past or the morrow?

Life's sweetest joys we longed for, so our Father knows but does withhold.

We'll find each broken link some time in that far away home of the soul.

To every one I think is given some heavy cross to bear.

The tearless life is just beyond us, the crown awaits us there.

TIED MOTHERS—

A little elbow leans upon your knee
Your tired knee that has so much to bear;
A child's dear eyes are looking lovingly
From underneath a thicket of tangled hair;
Perhaps you do not heed the sweetest touch
Of warm, moist fingers, folding yours so tight;
You do not prize this blessing over-much.
You almost are too tired to pray tonight.

But it is blessedness! A year ago,
I did not see it as I do today—
We are so dull and thankful; and too slow
To catch the sunshine till it slips away.
And now it seems surprising strange to me
That while I wore the badge of motherhood,
I did not see more oft and tenderly
The little child that brought me only good.

And it comes night when you sit down to rest
You miss this elbow from your tired knee;
This restless, curly head from your breast;
This lisping tongue that chatters constantly;
It from your own dimpled hands had slipped.
And never would settle in your lap again;
It the white feet into their grave
had tripped.
I could not blame you for your hesitation then.

It is a Wonder so that mothers ever fret at little children clinging to their peaks;
We shall the footprints when the days are wet
Are over black enough to make them from
It's could find a little muddy beat.
We are so pocket on my chamber door
It's could find a tiny, restless foot tapping at my door in my house
door
It's could find a broken cart to reach the sky—

There is no woman in God's world could say
She was more blissfully content than I.
But, ah! the dainty pillow next my own
Is never rumpled by a shining head.
My sinning birdling from its nest is flown;
The little one I used to kiss is dead.
—Mary Louise Riley Smith.

The sweetest lives are those to duty
wed,
Whom deeds both great and small
Are close-knit strands for an unbroken thread.
Where love ennobles all.
The world may sound no trumpet
ring no bells;
The book of life the shining record tells.
Thy love shall cheat its own betritudes
After its own life-working. A child's kiss
Not on thy shining lips shall make thee glad;
A poor man served by thee shall make thee rich;
A sick man helped by thee shall make thee strong;
Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
Of service which thou renderest.
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning.

A delightful informal affair of Saturday evening, was the reception

The dining room at the High the class colors, of white and green.

Streamers of white and green crepe paper were festooned from each corner of the room to the chandelier, and caught with a large bow. Smiling was festooned over the windows and quantities of white roses were used.

The punch bowl was banked in glitter; here Misses Annie Ward and Nell Green presided, serving delightful sandwiches with the punch.
After an evening of fun and frolic, an ice course in the white and green was served.

LACK OF FRESH AIR.

Causes Run-Down Condition. How to Keep Strong.

Statistics prove that the death rate is very much greater in the winter months than in summer and that the lack of fresh air is largely responsible for this condition.

If the system becomes rundown, blood thin and watery, circulation poor, no appetite, don't dose with drugs, but take our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol, not a patent medicine, as everything in it is named on every package and if it does not give you a hearty appetite, enrich the blood and create strength, we will return your money;
that shows our faith in Vinol.

A case has just come to our attention from Knoxville, Tenn.
Miss Carrie King says: "For three years I was all run-down, weak, had no appetite and after all that time I am glad to say Vinol has brought back my health and strength."

WAIT PAINT

There are painters and waiters.
Which am I going to do? Paint or wait?

Which is better?
How much am I worth with my property waiting? How much if I paint? Will my house be worth more or less if I paint?

Say it costs $2 a gallon Devoe—I wouldn't paint any other—and $3 or $4 more for putting it on. That's $50 or $60 for a 10 gallon job.

The money is gone. Is it in the house? Is it all in the house?
Suppose I were selling; what should I get for that house fresh painted and what should I get for it needing paint?

I wonder why men paint before selling. DEVOE, B. W. Clendinning & Co. with it.
